

Abstract

An arrangement for attaching a hygienic article such that its height will be adjustable incorporates a wall-mounting rod that may be attached to the wall using brackets. The wall-mounting rod incorporates a guiding profile, along which a slide may be slid. The brackets are configured such that they leave the guiding profile clear in order that a slide may be slid past the locations where they engage the wall-mounting rod without hindrance.

-----